Should you sell solar door to door?

Selling solar door to door is a numbers game. The more people you talk to, the more sales you'll make. This applies to follow-ups, too. Just because a prospect says "No" doesn't mean they'll never buy from your company. A "No" today could easily turn into a "Yes" next month or next year.

What is a door to door sales?

Door to door sales gives reps the opportunity to explain the ROI of a solar energy system, discuss financing options, and even show homeowners a rendering of what their home will look like after solar panel installation.

Are visual aids effective in door to door sales?

Visual aids can be quite effective in door to door sales. So if a solar company creates an illustrated one-sheet explaining the benefits of solar, a sales rep can leave that with a prospect to review. The LAER Model stands for Listen, Acknowledge, Explore, Respond.

How do you sell a solar business?

In the solar market, social proof can be a great way to help hesitant prospects overcome objections. Again, this is where a handout could be useful, if it includes testimonials from customers. And when you do make a sale in a neighborhood, ask your customer if you can place a sign in their yard for your solar business.

In 2025, door-to-door sales for solar and home services are more effective than ever -- not outdated.
