

Xinte Energy won the bid for solar inverter

Source: <https://www.elalmacendelaireacondicinado.es/Thu-30-Oct-2025-35964.html>

Title: Xinte Energy won the bid for solar inverter

Generated on: 2026-05-16 19:40:27

Copyright (C) 2026 ELALMACEN SOLAR. All rights reserved.

---

Xinte, a unit of TBEA, will sell 336,000 tons of polycrystalline silicon to Jinko Solar from January 2023 to December 2030, the Changji-based parent of Xinte said in a statement recently.

It also produces polysilicon products; and operates solar and wind power plants. In addition, the company produces and sells inverters, flexible direct current transmission converter ...

Chinese polysilicon makers have set up an acquisition company to help restructure an industry plagued by oversupply, local media reported on Wednesday, although it was unclear if the ...

The Engineering and Construction Contract Services (ECC) segment provides engineering services for solar and wind power plant construction. The Inverter Production segment produces inverters.

Nanyang Xinte Electrical Co., Ltd. was able to stand out among many competitors and won the project, reflecting the State Grid Corporation of China's high recognition of the ...

Risen acquires 100% equity of silicon producer: Chinese solar PV module producer Risen Energy has fully acquired the silicon business of DunAn Photovoltaic through a wholly-owned ...

PVTIME - On August 26, Xinte Energy Co., Ltd. (HKEX: 1799), a holding subsidiary of TBEA, disclosed that it has bagged a long-term order from Jinko Solar.

Major solar firms such as Tongwei Co. Ltd. and GCL Technology Holdings Ltd. saw their stock prices jump by more than 50% in the same period. Investors interpreted these moves as steps ...

Website: <https://www.elalmacendelaireacondicinado.es>

